AI Ducharme makes his home in NYC with his wife. While their friends with kids are shuttling them to school and picking them up from soccer practice AI and his wife are busy misplaying people, drinking martinis and contemplating whether or not they are ready to adopt a Chihuahua (hey, a dog is a BIG responsibility!!!)

AI's film credits include the Miramax film "Next Stop Wonderland" and "Original Sin" on CBS. His TV credits: comedic commentary on "Inside Edition", tons of funny TV commercials and hosting the first season of "Mission Organization" on HGTV. AI's latest one hour DVD has been produced by National Lampoon is available in stores.

AI keeps himself busy headlining comedy clubs, theaters, corporate events and over 300 colleges nationally. He has also received rave reviews internationally, making people laugh in Europe (Amsterdam, Paris and Barcelona), Africa and China. He has been a featured performer at numerous comedy festivals including the prestigious Montreal Comedy Festival and the Gala at the Boston Comedy Festival.

Bernadette Pauley - Don't let the blond hair fool you. Comedian Bernadette Pauley's stand-up packs quite a punch. Just when you think she's going to come at you with left, she'll hit you with a right. Could the daughter of a cab driver and union steward be anything but funny? Bernie has numerous TV credits under her belt including: Fox TV's Comics Unleashed and Red Eye, Comedy Central's Tough Crowd w/Colin Quinn, VH-1, MTV, hosting Lorne Michael's Burly TV on TBS, the FOX pilot The Wedding Album, TLC's Trading Spaces and Animal Planet. If you're a fan of Sirius Satellite Radio, you can catch her all over their Raw Dog Comedy Channel. If you're a smarty pants you can catch her talking about women in comedy on NPR. She's been a featured performer in The Boston Comedy Festival, Sudbury LOL Festival, New York Underground Comedy Festival etc. and headlines colleges and comedy clubs throughout the country.
